Someone we love has Fragile X syndrome. It is a genetic condition that can cause a range of issues from learning to behavior. Individuals with Fragile X want to be social, but may have anxiety, difficulty making eye contact, shyness, and short attention spans.

Be a hero by being friendly, warm, and engaging.

Learn more at fragilex.org